The Ramallah Concert

daniel barenboim and the west-eastern divan orchestra

Includes works by Mozart,
Beethoven and Elgar.

On August 21, 2005 during the week of the Israeli withdrawal from the Gaza Strip, a historic concert took place given by The West-Eastern Divan Orchestra. This Orchestra was the product of a remarkable friendship between the renowned Israeli conductor Daniel Barenboim and the late Palestinian-born writer Edward Said. It is a unique musical collaboration dedicated to further the cause of peaceful coexistence in the Middle East. Barenboim makes it clear that music cannot bring about peace but can bring about a greater understanding between young people of different cultures. The orchestra is a creation of Barenboim and aims for closer Israeli/Palestinian co-operation. It contains the finest young musicians between the ages of 14 and 25 from both sides of the divide and includes Israelis, Palestinians, Libyans, Syrians and some young people from Spain.

This is part 2 of the film we showed last month, Knowledge is the Beginning. It includes repertoire for which Barenboim is renowned: Mozart's Sinfonia Concertante in E-flat major, Beethoven's Symphony No. 5 and Elgar's Nimrod (from Enigma Variations).
